

Portraits of Runnymede is a project that I am shooting on behalf of Chertsey Museum for an exhibition that they want to show in October 2016.

The project has various themes running through it and these three portraits are from the Beards theme.

